

Tax Information Form Error - Special Characters

If you receive an error message that says:

Names must be less than 70 characters and may contain only letters, numbers, spaces, "&", and "-". For names with apostrophes, commas, or periods, omit those characters. (Example: "John O'Reilly, Jr." should be written as "John O'Reilly Junior")

Name * (as shown on your income tax return)

Jack O'Lantern

Names must be less than 70 characters and may contain only letters, numbers, spaces, "&", and "-". For names with apostrophes, commas, or periods, omit those characters. (Example: "John O'Reilly, Jr." should be written as "John O'Reilly Junior")

The IRS only allows up to 70 characters for your name or your Organization's name.

The IRS will only accept letters, numbers, and the following special characters: spaces (), ampersands (&), and hyphens or dashes (-).

If your name or your Organization's name contains any other special characters such as commas, periods, or apostrophes, you need to omit those special characters.
